Complete PHP Website Products and Services

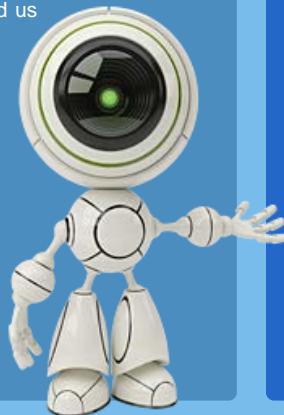

Now consider if your website adds value to your business... Are you eliminating an expensive printed catalogue by showcasing your products on-line? Can customers download products specifications such as colours and dimensions? Can people find you better than if they went to the Yellow Pages? When choosing your next web development company talk openly about what you website should do. 17 Designs will reflect on your requirements and develop custom solutions that meet your business requirements. We don't kit-bash templates or re-hash off-the-shelf products. We develop custom code using open source PHP and modular technology practices. We are highly innovative and will examine your business model and your business processes to create a website that works best for you.

original and unique to your business alone.
